B24	Genealogical study of Frederick Barkhuff, Rev. soldier and Amer. patriot. Author's res. 1952: Lewiston, Idaho
47768	Pam.

In presenting the following short biographical sketches of members of the descendants of one Frederick Barkhuff or Berkhoff, Barkhoff, Barcoff, Berkof as the various spellings have appeared on Baptisms. Having carefully compared the dates, locations and circumstances under which they were written I have come to the conclusion that they are one and the same person, but due to the faulty pronunciation of those who wrote them was caused the different spellings. I firmly believe that I can prove the authenticity of the following beyond any doubt by letters, abstracts and transcripts that I have in my possession. Each name so far as I have any information concerning that individual will appear in their own generation and may be located by referring to the family tree that accompanies this tract.

BARKHUFF, Frederick. Reputed to have been one of three brothers who came to America. Supposed birthplace was Hesse, Germany in 1758. Several versions have come to me among them was one that he was a Hessian soldier with Burgoyne in the English army and taken prisoner at Saratoga. Another is that the Hessians were forced to join the English army and that later he deserted and joined the Americans. Burgoyne surrendered October 10, 1777.

From the NEW YORK STATE LIBRARY, Manuscript and History section, I received the following information:

Frederick Barkhuff

On Dec. 6, 1838 before the County Judge came Mary Berkhuff and declared that she is the widow of Frederick Berkhuff, and that she is 74 years of age and a resident of the town of Florida, in said county and state.

The widow also states that Frederick Berkhuff, or Perkhoof was a private in the Revolutionary War, that he enlisted August 24, 1777 and served until the end of the war.

The widow also states that she married the said Frederick Barkhuff on Dec. 2, 1783 in Schenectady City by Rev. Mr. Frooman.

Her husband died August 12, 1809.

On December 6, 1838, in Montgomery County court, Robert Barkhuff, a resident of Florida, in aforesaid county, aged 47 years, declared that he was the fourth child of Frederick Barkhuff and Mary Barkhuff, and that his father died Aug. 12, 1809, and that his mother is still a widow.

Note: No other children or family mentioned in the file.

It will be noted that in the above application for a pension that the name is spelled in three different ways. I have never found any allusion to any brothers and if such existed they might have been killed while under Burgoyne or they might have been taken prisoner and never joined the American army, or they might have been only half--brothers and thus had another name. Due to the fact that Frederick's enlistment in the American Army preceded Burgoyne's surrender, he might have been captured before or deserted to the Revolutionary Army.

AN OUTLINE OF THE DESCENDANTS OF HENDRICK and JANE FREY STALEY

Hendrick Staley and wife, Jane Frey, emigrated from Zurich, Switzerland sometime previous to the French and Indian War, and was settled in New Jersey opposite New York City, then known as Manhattan, upon land known as Queen Anne Charter. Later he settled at what is now Hoffman's Ferry on the Mohawk which is still owned by a branch of the family. Mathias Staley settled in Blenheim, Schoharie Co. N.Y. The family of Schmerhorns came from Holland and settled in New York at a very early date. Like most of the Holland people they were traders and merchants and on the whole quite well educated and wealthy for that time. Jacob Janse Schmerhorn fell into the bad graces of Peter Stuyvesant, the Dutch Governor, who accused him of supplying the Indians with fire arms. His property was confiscated and he was to be banished from the colony for five years. The banishment was revoked on a remonstrance by his friends but his property was not returned. This Tree was inserted as showing the connection of the family with early colonial history.
